PROCEDURE FOR BUYING/SELLING ANIMALS AND THEIR DERIVATES

Recommendations of the Ministry of Climate Change & Environment with regards to the selling and purchase of animals and their derivatives under CITES listed species:

ADIHEX complies with the recommendations of the Ministry of Climate Change & Environment (UAE CITES Management Authority) and Federal Law No. (11) of 2002 concerning Regulation and Control of International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora and its Executive Regulations.

THE RECOMMENDATIONS ARE AS FOLLOWS

- Do not exhibit CITES listed animals and plants (live or derivatives) that do not have CITES certificates (such as Falcons, Houbara, skins and other hunting trophies).
- Do not import CITES listed animals and plants (live or derivatives) before obtaining an Import certificate from the Ministry of Climate Change & Environment and Export/Re-export certificates from the CITES Management in exporting countries.
- The falcons in exhibition must be bred in captivity and have identification mark (ring number). Do not give away falcons in raffle draws during the exhibition before getting them registered and approved by the Ministry of Climate Change & Environment.
- When falcons are either sold, gifted, or distributed as prizes, etc., it is necessary to transfer the ownership of the falcon to the new owner for registered falcon through the CITES system, and to register any unregistered falcons in the CITES system, in order to not hinder the process of issuing a falcon's passport, export or re-export certificate.
- All incoming and outgoing consignments are subject to the legislation, regulations and procedures of quarantine as well as, the regulation and control of international trade in endangered animals and plants in force in the country.
- The online services for registering ownership, transferring ownership, issuing CITES import, export and re-export certificates or falcon passport are provided through the website of the Ministry of Climate Change and Environment <https://www.moccae.gov.ae/>
